Letter to SMALL GROUP LEADERS

MY DEAR SISTER,

Thank you, thank you for responding to God's call to lead a small group for Beauty by The Book. I wish I could hug your neck for your willingness to encourage, disciple, and minister to the women in your group!

Whether you are a new or experienced, confident or not-so-confident leader, I hope these words from one of my favorite Christian authors will encourage you as they've encouraged me:

Beware of any work for God which enables you to evade concentration on Him. The one concern of a worker should be concentration on God... There is no responsibility on you for the work; the only responsibility you have is to keep in living constant touch with God, and to see that you allow nothing to hinder your concentration with Him.

—Oswald Chambers, My Utmost for His Highest

If serving the Lord and ministering to others depended upon my own skill, knowledge, and ability, I couldn't do what God has called me to do—and neither can you. But it's so easy to take God's responsibility upon ourselves, isn't it? And when we do, we begin stressing and striving, feeling inadequate or over-confident—evidence we're focusing upon ourselves instead of concentrating on God.

I sincerely pray this Leader Guide will be a helpful tool for you as you lead your small group. But never forget, it's just a resource. God is your real source. May He fill and use you in a mighty way for His glory as you keep your eyes on Him first and lead others second.

Your sister,

Laurie

Study and Leader GOALS

GOALS OF Beauty by THE BOOK

The goals of this study are:

1. To enable women to study the Bible and encounter God through the pages of His Word in a life-changing way.
2. To encourage women to become spiritually sensitive and responsive to the work of the Holy Spirit as they apply God's Word to their lives.
3. To equip women to become biblically beautiful.

GOALS FOR SMALL GROUP LEADERS

Your goal as a small group leader is:

1. To facilitate a scripture-based discussion from the weekly Bible study homework.
2. To facilitate a Hebrews 10:24 environment where group members can share and encourage one another to grow in their relationship with the Lord and to apply His Word to their lives.

And let us consider how to stimulate one another to love and good deeds.

—Hebrews 10:24 NASB

Weekly Preparation to LEAD YOUR SMALL GROUP

Each week, prepare to lead your small group by:

1. Keeping your heart and life spiritually cleansed and pure so that you will be “an instrument for noble purposes, made holy, useful to the Master and prepared to do any good work” (2 Timothy 2:21).
2. Praying for your group members faithfully and diligently. Each time you meet with your group, you will ask them to share their prayer requests. Lovingly pray over these requests throughout the week. Also, as the Holy Spirit brings a group member to your heart during the week, ask Him how to pray for them and you’ll find your prayers going beyond the requests they’ve shared with you in class.
3. Writing your group members a brief note or email as the Lord leads you. Encourage them by letting them know of your concern and prayers.
4. Completing your Bible study homework each week. Be cautious, however, not to get caught up in just the “doing” of your homework. Ask the Lord to do a fresh work in your life each day as you study.
5. Reading through the leader guide for the lesson after you’ve completed your own homework noting the following:
  - a. The weekly goal(s) stated for that lesson. These goals will help you keep your small group time focused and on target. Don’t state the goal(s) at the beginning of your share time, but you may want to use them as you conclude and wrap up your group time each week.
  - b. The questions given for that lesson. Customize your discussion by asking the Lord to show you which questions to use in your discussion. Check the boxes beside the questions you feel led to include in your small group time.
NOTE: The box beside the closing question on each leader guide has already been checked because you will always want to use this question to close your small group time.
6. Estimating how much time you plan to spend on each question you’ve chosen. Make a note beside the questions you’ve chosen of the specific amount of time you plan to spend on it. You may choose to spend more time on some questions than others.

7. Claiming the following scriptures and resting in God's promises as you lead your small group (you may even want to post one or more of these scriptures on your refrigerator or near the place where you prepare for small group to serve as a source of constant encouragement to you):

I am the vine; you are the branches. If a man remains in Me and I in him, he will bear much fruit; apart from Me you can do nothing.
—John 15:5

Brothers, think of what you were when you were called. Not many of you were wise by human standards; not many were influential; not many were of noble birth. But God chose the foolish things of the world to shame the wise; God chose the weak things of the world to shame the strong. He chose the lowly things of this world and the despised things—and the things that are not—to nullify the things that are, so that no one may boast before Him. It is because of Him that you are in Christ Jesus. Who has become for us Wisdom from God—that is, our righteousness, holiness and redemption. Therefore, as it is written: “Let him who boasts boast in the Lord.”

—1 Corinthians 1:26–31

But He said to me, “My grace is sufficient for you, for My power is made perfect in weakness.” Therefore I will boast all the more gladly about my weaknesses, so that Christ’s power may rest on me. That is why, for Christ’s sake, I delight in weaknesses, in insults, in hardships, in persecutions, in difficulties. For when I am weak, then I am strong.

—2 Corinthians 12:9–10

I can do everything through (Christ) Who gives me strength.

—Philippians 4:13

Faithful is He that calleth you, Who also will do it.

—1 Thessalonians 5:24 (KJV)

How to LEAD AN EFFECTIVE SMALL GROUP DISCUSSION

Small group discussion time should be interesting, inspiring, and enjoyable. Yet you've probably been in a small group that was just the opposite: boring, irrelevant, and a real drag. What makes the difference? Effective leadership.

Whether you've ever led a small group before or not, you can facilitate an effective, enjoyable small group experience by practicing the following top ten tips:

1. Keep your discussion time focused on the two primary goals for small group leaders (as stated on the previous page).
2. Strive to establish a comfortable, conversational atmosphere so your members will feel free to share what they've studied and learned. Think of your discussion time as a group conversation where everyone has the opportunity to share freely and receive encouragement.
3. As the leader, facilitate the discussion but don't dominate. And if a group member is dominating the discussion, encourage others to participate by saying, "I'd really like to hear from some of you who haven't shared today."
4. Ask questions from the weekly leader guides, but don't read or give them the exact question and page number from their workbooks. This will encourage them to restate not repeat (or read) what they've written in their homework. Unless they are unresponsive or directly ask you for the question and page number, try to keep their "heads out of their workbooks." Of course, they can use their workbooks to follow along through the discussion, but encourage them not to read their answers verbatim and not to limit themselves to sharing only what they've written.
5. Be an example of a sincere and eager student of God's Word. Openly and honestly share what God is doing in your own heart. Seek to be transparent, genuine, and real in your leadership.
6. Encourage your group to respect the boundaries of your group discussion. Ask them not to repeat personal information other group members have shared in the weekly discussion time with anyone outside the group.
7. Encourage your group to complete their weekly Bible study homework, but assure them that no one will see or "check" their homework. Also, encourage them to attend small group even if they've been unable to complete their homework.
8. Your group will appreciate it if you will monitor and use your time wisely. Begin and end your group on time each week.
9. Be sensitive to the leadership of the Holy Spirit. If your group gets "off track" from the questions you've chosen from the leader guide but you sense the Lord is leading the discussion in a different direction, let Him lead!
10. Finally, if someone in your group is hurting or has spiritual questions or needs, please approach them privately and let them know of your concern for them. Offer to listen, to share scripture, and to pray with them. If needed, you also may offer to assist them in seeking Christian counsel from a minister or Christian counselor.

Weekly LEADER GUIDES

Introductory Week

goals

- To allow your group members to get to know you and one another.
- To prepare your group members for their first week of homework.
- To introduce them to Proverbs and to the topic of this study: how to become biblically beautiful women of God.

LEADER PREPARATION

1. Pray, pray, pray for those who will be in your group. Ask God to prepare a Hebrews 10:24 environment as you meet together with your group for the very first time.
2. Complete your Week One homework.
3. Make a list of the information you need to share with your group during your first week together (weekly schedule/format, small group guidelines, homework requirements, your phone number/email address, etc.).
4. On the table of contents page of your Beauty by The Book workbook, write the date each lesson will be discussed beside each week's lesson. You will give these dates to your small group members when you meet with them during the introductory week.
5. Gather half-sheets of paper for each member of your group. Bring these with you to use during your first small group discussion.
6. Take time to look through your workbook to get an overview of the study and to become familiar with the topics and layout of the workbook. You may want to make some notes to give your group members a brief overview and description of the study.
7. Review the Small Group Time instructions listed below. Make a few brief notes of your own personal answers to questions 2a, c, & d. If your group is reluctant to share during the discussion time, you will be prepared to share your answers which will encourage them to be open and share as well.

SMALL GROUP TIME:

1. INTRODUCTORY INFORMATION (10–15 minutes):
  - a. Briefly introduce yourself and welcome your members to small group.
  - b. Share information about the weekly schedule, homework, and any other necessary information with your group (see 3 above).
  - c. Ask your group members to open their workbooks. Guide them through the weekly format for each lesson (each week's lesson is broken into five days of homework; a weekly listening guide is provided for them each to use each week during the video lecture time).

- d. Ask your group members to turn to the table of contents page in their workbooks. Give them the specific dates that each week's lesson will be discussed in your small group, and instruct them to write the correct date beside each lesson. This will help them keep up with the study and will prevent any possible confusion especially if they're unable to attend small group for a week or more. NOTE: This is also a good time to encourage them to attend small group even if they fall behind in doing their homework or even if they're unable to complete it.

2. DISCUSSION (30–35 minutes):

- a. Begin your discussion by giving each group member a half-sheet of paper. Ask them to write out a very brief description of themselves using a series of descriptive words and phrases that best describe who they are, their personality, their "titles," their interests, their likes and dislikes, etc. Encourage them to have fun with this, and let them know that there are no "right" or "wrong" answers. Example: Mom, schoolteacher, people person, allergic-to-housework, artist, city girl, Mexican food fanatic, etc. Give them a little time to complete this assignment.
- b. Ask everyone to share their names and the descriptions they've just written with the group. This should be a light-hearted time of getting to know one another better.
- c. Have them turn in their Bibles to Proverbs 1:1–7. Read this passage to your group, and ask the following questions:
- Who wrote Proverbs (verse 1), and why did he write it (verses 2–4)?
  - Define the word "wisdom" in your own words? What does it mean, and how is it different than knowledge?
  - According to this passage, how do people respond to wisdom (verses 5 and 7b)?
- d. Ask your group to look at Proverbs 1:8–9. Read these two verses to your group, and ask the following questions:
- Who else is Solomon concerned about (verse 8)? Who needs wisdom, instruction, and training, and who is responsible to provide it to them?
  - What does today's culture teach girls and young women about womanhood? What does the culture teach girls and young women about beauty?
  - How would you define true beauty?
- e. Briefly tell your group that this study will give us the practical wisdom and biblical knowledge we need to become biblically beautiful women. In addition, it will also empower us to instruct and influence our children and others, so that we can make a difference in our world.

3. SHARE PRAYER REQUESTS (5–10 minutes):

- a. Ask your group members, "In what areas of your life do you need wisdom? What are you currently seeking God's wisdom about, and how can our group pray for you?"
NOTE: Please write down their requests and encourage your group members to make note of each request, too, so they can pray for one another in the days ahead.
- b. Lead your group in a time of prayer.

4. CLOSING:

- a. Thank your group members for sharing, and encourage them to complete their Week One homework.
- b. Dismiss them to attend the lecture which will follow (if you are using the Beauty by The Book DVDs), but let them know you're available after class if they have questions or other needs. Smile and be encouraging, approachable, and available as your group dismisses.

LEADER GUIDE

Beauty by THE BOOK

Thank you so much for agreeing to serve as a leader for this study! You are in for a special blessing.

As a Bible study coordinator or a small group facilitator, you will prepare each week to guide the members of your class in discussion and application of their homework. There is great responsibility as well as added blessing accompanying your role. You will dig deeper and study more intently in order to be prepared to lead. Consequently, the Lord will bless you with greater insight. This leader guide is a tool that will enhance your study and preparation.

Laurie Cole has written a superior leader guide that will make a seasoned leader smile with appreciation and a novice leader feel more secure.

Highlights of this guide include:

- A clearly defined goal for the lesson/discussion.
- A suggested schedule to help guide your group discussion and prayer time.
- A “smorgasbord” of well-thought questions that will simplify your preparation and discussion time. Pick and choose from among the many scripture-based and application-based questions to customize your weekly discussion.
- A closing question for each week’s discussion that will bring your group to a point of self-examination and personal growth.

Personally, I do not think there is a leader guide available that gives you such guided preparation in facilitating a small group. Trust God to use you as you lead your group, and know of our love, appreciation, and prayers for you.
